September 2025

Fall is here and Q4 is right around the corner, but we're not slowing down. September was a month of growth, global presence, content creation, and exciting innovation at NuLiv Science. From expanding our team to launching a brand-new ingredient, we're setting the stage for a strong finish to the year!

Key Events

New Ingredient Launch – FunglIQ™

One of the biggest highlights of the month: the launch of our brand-new cognitive mushroom ingredient, FunglIQ™! FunglIQ™ combines the power of premium mushroom extracts backed by research to support brain health, focus, and mental clarity. We're excited to introduce this to our brand partners and can't wait to see it featured in future product launches.

New Sales Rep: Dillon Mendoza!

We're excited to welcome Dillon Mendoza to the NuLiv Science sales team! Dillon brings great energy, strong industry experience, and a passion for building relationships. We're thrilled to have him on board as we continue expanding our reach and supporting more brand partners worldwide!

New Content On The Way

This month, our team filmed a ton of new product overviews featuring formulas that use our ingredients: Transparent Labs, Prozis, Nutrex, Prox and more. These videos help us highlight the science in real-world products and showcase brands that are pushing the industry forward. Keep an eye on our social channels, lots of great content is on the way!
