May 2024

NuLiv Science participated in several international trade shows and events this month, showcasing our ingredients and connecting with industry professionals worldwide. Additionally, we announced a new human clinical study published on skin health ingredient Verbasinol™.

Key Events

Fit Weekend Mexico

VP of Sales, Ken Montes, traveled to Mexico for Fit Weekend, the premier sports convention in Mexico, linking companies, health professionals, investors, athletes, and enthusiasts to elevate the sports industry.

Vitafoods Europe

The team attended Vitafoods in Switzerland one last time before the annual convention moves to Spain next year. This key nutraceutical event allowed us to connect with partners and introduce our products to a wider global audience.

ExpoSport Fitness Mexico

Back in Mexico for ExpoSport Fitness. This event helped us strengthen our presence in the Latin American market, and gain insights into emerging trends.

New Verbasinol Human Study Published

This two-month study focused on adult women with poor Global Acne Grading Systems ("GAGS") scores, a widely accepted metric in dermatology for evaluating acne severity. The study demonstrated that Verbasinol™ may be effective in lowering acne severity, as well as improving various skin health factors.
