September 2024

As the fall season begins, our team has been fully immersed in events and initiatives. September brought us opportunities to connect with the industry through virtual expos, international client visits, and thought leadership. Looking ahead, we're gearing up for SupplySide West next month, one of our largest trade shows of the year, along with continued growth in the coming months.

Key Events

NuLiv Science at Stack3d Virtual Expo

NuLiv Science participated in the Stack3d Supplement Expo, showcasing our ingredients in an interactive, online format.

Strengthening Partnerships Germany

Two of our team members traveled to Germany to meet with key clients. The visit provided a great opportunity to deepen partnerships and explore new collaboration possibilities across the European market.

CEO Speaks at Gut Health Seminar London

Our CEO, Richard Wang, took the stage as a featured speaker at the I-Ingredients Gut Health Seminar in London. Held at the Royal Society of Medicine, Richard shared insights on gut health innovation, focusing on AstraGin and NuLiv Science's contributions in the space.
